

Ava Lovsin is a New York City based Dancer, Teacher, and Choreographer. She started her dance journey at Joanne's Dance Extension in Canton, Michigan, where she trained and competed in various styles of dance. Ava furthered her dance education under the mentorship of Thomas Ralabate at the University at Buffalo, where she earned her BFA in Dance in 2022. In her time at the university, Ava performed and choreographed and directed in various shows. She can be seen teaching at conventions and workshops around the country including Student Honors Intensive Program and Dance Masters of America National workshop classes.

Paired with her degree, Ava has studied from Dance Masters of America; Cecchetti Council of America; Joffrey Ballet School; Broadway Dance Center; Steps on Broadway; Entity Contemporary Dance; Take Dance Company; and Complexions Contemporary Ballet.

When Ava is not dancing, you can catch her teaching fitness classes at Pure Barre around New York City.